

UN GLOBAL COMPACT

ABOUT THE UN GLOBAL COMPACT

As a special initiative of the UN Secretary-General, the United Nations Global Compact is a call for companies around the world to align their operations and strategies with ten universal principles in the areas of human rights, labor, the environment, and anti-corruption.

Launched in 2000, the Global Compact guides and supports the global business community in advancing the UN's goals and values through responsible corporate practices and the 10 Universal Principles. It has more than 20,000 participants, 65 networks covering 85 countries, making it the largest corporate sustainability initiative in the world. There are also 5 Hubs in different regions and 9 national managers responsible for the implementation process in 16 other countries.

10 UNIVERSAL PRINCIPLES

By joining the UN Global Compact, companies commit to following 10 Universal Principles, which serve as fundamental guidelines in four essential areas: human rights, labor, environment, and anti-corruption.

Created in 2000, these principles are aligned with important international declarations and conventions, such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the principles of the International Labor Organization, the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development, and the United Nations Convention against Corruption.

Being in agreement with these principles— and remaining vigilant about their compliance— is a mandatory requirement for participating in the Global Compact, both in Brazil and in any other country. They form the initiative's basis for action and must be incorporated into the culture and strategy of participating companies, along with the 2030 Agenda and its Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

HUMAN RIGHTS

1.

Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights.

2.

Make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.

LABOR

3.

Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining.

4.

The elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labor.

5.

The effective abolition of child labor.

6.

The elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation.

ENVIRONMENT

7.

Businesses should support a precautionary approach to environmental challenges.

8.

Undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental responsibility.

9.

Encourage the development and diffusion of environmentally friendly technologies.

ANTI-CORRUPTION

10.

Businesses should work against corruption in all its forms, including extortion and bribery.

17 SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS (SDGs)

The 2030 Agenda, composed of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), 169 targets, and 231 indicators, is a joint effort of countries, companies, institutions, and civil society.

The SDGs are our guide for a fairer and more sustainable future, they are integrated and indivisible, and they merge the three dimensions of sustainable development in a balanced way: economic, social, and environmental. They are universal and their core is to “leave no one behind.”
